INTRODUCTORY.

In preparing this, our third Directory for the City and County of San Diego, we have endeavored, by every means within our reach to have it complete, and reliable. Our canvassers visited every house in the city and made every effort to obtain correct information on all matters herein contained, and we believe our patrons will be well pleased with the book. We believe this to be the best directory ever issued in the city.

It contains more names, and information on more subjects than any previous publication. In going the rounds, our canvassers inquired the number of persons living in each house, for the purpose of ascertaining the number of people living in the city. The result shows the population to be 19,740. This does not include tourists or temporary residents.

We have undertaken the publication of a directory for San Diego as a permanent business, believing that it will be better for all interested—the patrons as well as the publishers—for an established San Diego firm to do this work than to depend upon strangers.

Our next book will appear about the first of 1898, or as soon as the needs of the city and business interests will justify; and as was said in our last, "we will, from time to time add new features as occasion may seem to warrant."

Believing that San Diegans will appreciate and patronize a worthy home enterprise,

We are respectfully

SAN DIEGO.

To Cabrillo belongs the honor of the discovery of San Diego Bay, and to Viscanio the honor of naming it San Diego. Although the discovery of the bay dates back to 1542, the connected history of the city and of the State begins in 1769, with the planting of California's first Mission at Old Town by Father Junipero Sierra. The city of San Diego is the oldest muuicipality in California. The "Pueblo" was organized January 1, 1833. In the early fifties Spanish and American life mingled in trade and commerce at Old Town. The present site of the city was purchased and laid out in 1867 by A.E. Horton. With the Advent of the Santa Fe railroad, in 1885, thousands came to San Diego to seek new homes. To-day San Diego is a progressive city of 20,000 inhabitants, enjoying all the modern advantages of a city of many times its size. Its streets are graded, paved, lighted with electricity, and electric carlines traverse all parts of the city. Its 42 miles sewer system is the best; its 85 miles of water mains furnish all parts of the city with water.

Railroads connect the city with the surrounding fertile valleys.

The city boasts of unequaled educational advantages from Kindergarten to High School; magnificent churches and one of the finest opera houses in the State.

The climate of San Diego, which is conceded by eminent climafologists to be the best and most equable the year round, to be found on the western hemisphere, makes this a favored place or resort for the summer and winter. During the entire year from August, 1894, to July, 1895, there were only two hours when the murcury stood below 40° and only 22 hours when it registered above 80°. From 1875 to 1891—6205 days—there were 6006 days of temabove 80° nor below 40°.

Maximum and minimum temperatures monthly at San Diego for the past twenty-three years.

The rapid development of the rich and varied resources of the county is making San Diego a great fruit center; its lemons and olives are becoming world famous and the finest oranges, guavas and loquats are raised in this County; also the apples, apricots, cherries, grapes, peaches, plums, raisins, strawberries, raspberries, blackberries. Its agricultural and mining interests rank with the best in the State.

In some localities potatoes, tomatoes, green peas, etc., are marketed every month in the year; there being but little frost it is only a question of irrigation and cultivation, sowing and gathering the crops.

The annual rainfall varies in different localities. Near the coast it is about twelve inches; in the higher altitude of the mountains it increases to sixty inches. Almost all the rain fall occurs during the months of December, January and February. Irrigation systems completed: San Diego Flume Company, lengh 46 miles; cost, $1,500,000; Sweetwater Dam, 65 miles of pipe laid; cost $1,400,000, the Escondido system, cost $450,000, and several other systems in course of construction, including the great system of the Southern California Mountain Water Company's which will cost over $3,000,000; —the Otay almost completed, the Barrett, and Moreno— from the latter the City will get 1000 inches of mountain water for domestic and irrigation purposes.

The business interests of the city are large and varied. The merchants of the city carry as full and complete stocks as are to be found any where in the West. The manufacturing interests are important and promise rapid development.

In point of location, the city is exceptionally favored, being situated upon a large and commodious bay, forming a perfect land-locked harbor. This is the only safe harbor south of San Francisco and is the favored rendesvaus for drill of the North Pacific Squadron. It is a port of entry with Custom House, quarantine station, marine ways, wharves, docks, coal bunkers, etc.

The Geographical location of the city has called the attention of Japanese commerce to this port and trade relations are being established with South and Central Amercan points.

This is the natural gate-way between the great South-west of our own country and the islands and main land to the South as well as China and Japan by way of Honolulu. The commercial possibilities are the most promising of any city on the coast.

There are many points of interest near the city and easy of access.

Coronado Beach, opposite the City, reached by Electric cars and ferry. The great Hotel, beautiful grounds, surf, botanical gardens, museum, etc. Hotel del Coronado, is there, three and four stories high, built around a quadrangular court of 250 by 150 feet in size. The following shows the area and capacity of the building:

Seating capacity of the dining room, 1000; area of restaurant surface, 2,500; total floor area, 7¼ acres; dining room ceiling, 33 feet high; a number of private dining rooms; four 85-feet balling alleys; 750 rooms; area of breakfast room, 4,800 feet; area of assembly chamber, 11,000 feet; thirty billiard tables, four for ladies; observatory, 150 feet high.

La Jolla, Pacific Beach and Old Town are reached by the La Jolla railroad; National City, the Sweetwater dam and the orange and lemon groves of Chula Vista

California is noted for it educational advantages. It has many fine colleges and schools, and San Diego County public schools are equal to any in the State. This is especially true of the City schools, where an efficient corps of eighty-three teachers are employed, and 2927 pupils are enrolled. We have six large school buildings besides several smaller ones, and all are crowded.

City Board of Education—Dr. F. R. Burnham, President; A. A. Sparks, C. L. Evans, Mrs. E. V. D. Stearns, T. S, Brundegee, Joseph Surr, Mrs. C. A. House, Chas. Hubbell, Alda M. Ferris, W. C. Patterson, E. J. Louis, Daniel Cleveland, N. S. Hammack, E. W. Hendrick, C. H. Swallow, C. F. Thomas, W. W. Gephart, Clerk. Office—Fisher Opera House.

City School Trustees—Geo. W. Marston, Joseph A. Flint, and Philip Morse.

New Ideas with New Seasons

Our Selection——What will you do with it?

Hundreds of samples selected from thousands of cloths; the best of America and the best of Europe brought to your door, and fitted to your purse.

You'll see them of course.
You can't afford to miss them.
They save just the kind of dollars you want,

Cloth reliable—cut in style—work that lasts—trimmings that wear—at prices that saves you $5 to $10 per suit.

We are represented in your place by HIZAR & CO., 1320 D St.

Who will gladly exhibit samples; even though you may not wish to purchase, you'll gain ideas of what is worn, and we may gain a future patron in you.

Yours truly,

WANAMAKER & BROWN.

Here is the Name you are Looking for

"LA JOLLA"

which is Spanish for "THE GEM," and truly no spot was ever more appropriately named.

La Jolla appears at its best when the tide is out. Then the beautiful sea-mosses and shells, for which La Jolla is so justly celebrated, can be found in great profusion among the rocks, left bare by the receding waters.

The Famous CAVES can also be entered at low tide.

These caves are among the wonders of California.
They are seven in number and are found in the solid sandstone cliffs, which rise more than a hundred feet from the beach.

There are many other natural attractions to be found at this popular resort which is reached only by the

San Diego, Pacific Beach & La Jolla

RAILWAY.

---

3 Daily Excursion Trains run to La Jolla. The fare for the round trip is 75c.

On Sundays and Thursdays, special excursions are run when the price is 50c. for the round trip.

Here is the Name you are Looking for

"LA JOLLA"

which is Spanish for "THE GEM," and truly no spot was ever more appropriately named.

La Jolla appears at its best when the tide is out. Then the beautiful sea-mosses and shells, for which La Jolla is so justly celebrated, can be found in great profusion among the rocks, left bare by the receding waters.

The Famous CAVES can also be entered at low tide.

These caves are among the wonders of California.
They are seven in number and are found in the solid sandstone cliffs, which rise more than a hundred feet from the beach.

There are many other natural attractions to be found at this popular resort which is reached only by the

San Diego, Pacific Beach & La Jolla

RAILWAY.

3 Daily Excursion Trains run to La Jolla. The fare for the round trip is 75c.

On Sundays and Thursdays, special excursions are run when the price is 50c. for the round trip.

COUNTY DIRECTORY

In the following pages we give a brief description of every section of San Diego County together with the names of the residents, gathered from the most reliable sources within our reach. We have made every effort to get accurate information, and believe we present the most reliable directory ever published in the county.

San Diego County extends from the Pacific ocean on the West to the Arizona line on the East, and from the Mexican line on the South to Riverside county on on the North. The county is about 56 miles wide and 150 miles long and contains 8450 square miles. The Eastern portion consists of desert and mountains which are now attracting some attention as prospective field for mining men. The Western portion conists of fertile valleys and mesa lands interspersed with mountain and hill ranges.

National City Directory.

National City, the terminus of the Southern California railroad, adjoins San Diego on the south, and among its inhabitants are many of the county's most enterprising citizens. It is the location of the headquarters of the San Diego Land & Town Company, and the National City and Otay railroad.

STREET GUIDE.

Commencing at the San Diego city limits, the streets running east and west are First, Second, Third, etc., to the city limits between National City and Chula Vista.

Taking National avenue as a base line, the streets running north and south are called avenues. Those on the west of National avenue are First avenue, Second avenue, etc., to the Bay front. Those on the east of National avenue are A avenue, B avenue, etc., as far as the streets are laid out.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

Coronado City Directory.

Coronado, the city across the bay, the location of the great Hotel del Coronado, is one of the best advertised and one of the most widely and favorably known seaside resorts on the Pacific coast. The town has electric street cars and other modern improvements, fine boulevards, tree-lined streets, many fine churches, excellent schools, ostrich farms, botanical gardens, museum, boat houses, bath houses, etc. To attempt to give a proper description of Coronado and its great hotel in this short space would be folly. All who come to San Diego visit the big hotel and form their own impressions of the magnificence of the structure.

STREET GUIDE.

Orange avenue is the street leading from the ferry to Hotel del Coronado. The streets running parallel with Orange avenue on the west are D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, Alameda avenues and the Boulevard; on the east C, B, A, Pomona avenues and the Boulevard. The cross streets, commencing at the ferry landing, are First Second, etc., up to 10th.

CITY OFFICERS.

Trustees, F. W. Koeppen, Pres.; J. C. Fitzgerald, C. W. Robinson, S. H. McIntosh, B. A. Burnap.

ALPINE CENTER—(Alpine P. O.)

Alpine derived its name from the fact that it so nearly corresponds in mountain scenery and climate to the country of the Alps. The average altitude is 2000 feet, and it is recognized as one of the favorite health and pleasure resorts. It is fast becoming a productive fruit and general agricultural country, the greater part of the immediate section consisting of a series of low rolling hills and mesa lands. The little town contains one of the best stores in the county, good hotel, good school, public hall, and is reached by the Cuyamaca stage—ten miles from Lakeside and 28 miles north-east from San Diego.

BALLENA.

Ballena (Spanish for whale) derived its name from a mountain in the distance resembling a whaleback. It is 45 miles North-east from San Diego, on the Julian stage line, 2750 feet elevation, has Baptist church, school house, store and postoffice. A farming, fruit and stock country. The placer mining grounds are now under control of Jesse R. Grant, and the intention is to divert water from the Santa Ysabel creek for irrigating and mining purposes.

BOSTONIA.

Bostonia is a pretty and thriving little town, situated 18 miles North-east of San Diego, in the Eastern part of the famous El Cajon valley, and four miles from El Cajon station on the S. D. & C. Ry. It is the center of the raisin growing section, in the midst of lemon, orange and olive groves and vineyards, and with its wide, shady streets and charming homes, is one of the prettiest places in the county. All fruits grow abundantly.

The education of its children was the first consideration, and the result is two completely equipped schools. One a grammar, the other an high school.

It also contains St. John's Episcopal church, Donald & Co's large general merchandise store; a blacksmith shop; meat market and the large packing and curing houses of Souther & Crosby.

Its water facilities are of the best. Wells have been drilled through solid granite; thus giving a bountiful supply of pure, cool water, which is piped to the houses.

CAMPO.

Fifty miles East of San Diego, on the old stage road to Yuma and Lower California. The town is nestled in a mountain valley at an elevation of about 2500 feet, only one mile from the Mexican line, and not far from the desert country. There is some mining in the vicinity but the chief industry is the raising of sheep, cattle, and horses. The new Morena dam, being built by the Southern California Mountain Water Company to develop water for the City, is located a few miles North of Campo.

CHULA VISTA.

Chula Vista is a favorite suburban residence place for San Diego. It adjoins National City on the South and is the home of many San Diego professional and business men. The National City and Otay, and Coronado railroads furnish transportation facilities. Many handsome homes, in the midst of five and ten acre orange and lemon groves, graded and tree-lined streets and avenues, the 1000-acre lemon grove, good churches and schools, and many features make up the attractions for Chula Vista. This place with its abundant supply of water from the great Sweewater dam furnishes an object lesson for Southern California.

ESCONDIDO.

Escondido is the largest interior town in San Diego County, and one of the most prosperous, owing to various advantages, in its elevation, its proper distance from the ocean for health, its mild and salubrious climate, and the enterprise, and energy of its well-to-do citizens.

It is situated at the terminus of the Escondido branch of the Southern California Railway, 21 miles East of Oceanside, 35 miles North of San Diego, and 61 miles around by way of Oceanside by rail.

The development of their most excellent system of water work, both for the town, and surrounding valley for irrigation purposes, has greatly encouraged the the people, and added new life to the surroundings so that the prospects for the future growth and development of both the town and surrounding country are especially bright.

Almost all branches of business are represented and the community is well supplied with churches; and the schools are fully up to the best. Escondido, like all other prosperous Southern California towns has a very fine and commodious hotel. Besides she has several quite substantial business blocks, including a bank building of commendable dimensions.

The fruit industry in the valley, which comprises about 15000 acres, is fast becoming the leading industy. The soil and climate in the valley are suited to the growth of the various kinds of fruit, the citrus on the slightly elevated lands, and deciduous on the lower depressions, while the vineyards flourish as well as in any other section in Southern California.

The town is the trading center for a large area of country consisting of fertile hills and prolific valleys, with mountains that are known to contain ores of the FALLBROOK.

In a growing agricultural and horticultural center, of a very fine belt of country lying between the Temecula and San Luis Rey rivers. It is 20 miles North of Oceanside, 60 miles from San Diego and 122 miles from Los Angeles. Fallbrook is located in the frostless citrus belt of San Diego county, 10 to 20 miles from the ocean, free from heavy winds. Is a very picturesque and healthful location, and the town is provided with Masonic and Odd Fellows lodges and other societies, churches, schools, a newspaper, bank, and many business enterprises. It is the terminus of the Fallbrook branch of the Southern California railroad and is one of the most promising towns in the county.

HELIX.

Helix is the name of the postoffice for the Spring Valley Country, about eleven miles North-east from San Diego, and one and one-half miles from the Cuyamaca railroad. It is one of the most prosperous sections in the county with its 300 acres of lemon groves, and 200 acres of olive. It has two stores, blacksmith shop, Congregational church, school, orchestra, literary and other societies. It is supplied with water from the San Diego Flume and wells.

JAMACHA.

Jamacha, is in the Upper Sweetwater Valley about 20 miles East from San Diego, and is one of the most fertile sections of San Diego county. Mr. Davis of the firm of Park, Davis & Co., of Detroit, Michigan, owns a large tract of land in the valley and he has already spent many thousands of dollars in developing water and making other improvements. The intention is to build up a town with a fine hotel, tropical gardens, parks, etc., and make it one of the beauty spots of Southern California

JAMUL.

Jamul is a fertile and nicely located agricultural district, 1050 feet above the sea level, a rolling mesa country with Mt San Miguel to the west and Lyon's Peak to the east. There are three grocery stores, and about 150 persons live in the district. It is 21 miles east from San Diego, 10 miles from the La Presa and Spring Valley railroad stations; while it is classed as a deciduous fruit belt, citrus fruits grow and do well.

JULIAN.

The Julian country is noted in Southern California as the great apple region. It is a horticultural, agricultural, grazing and mining region, and more nearly resembles the eastern country than any other section. The town is located on the top of the mountain range overlooking the desert to the east, and the ocean on the west. It is 60 miles north-east from San Diego and 24 miles from Foster railroad station, from which point a daily stage is run. It is a well watered and timbered country, varied in its mining, agricultural and horticultural resources, wide in extent, rich in scenic beauty of mountain and valley, with a healthful, invigorating climate, a prolific soil, and an enterprising people. An abundance of rain and snow falls in the winter season. The discovery of gold in Julian dates back to 1869, and during the past 20 years much gold has been produced. The mining interests in the surrounding country is now receiving a new impetus. Good high School and graded schools are provided for the people. Julian is at an elevation of about 4300 feet.

LAKESIDE.

The town of Lakeside is located in the upper El Cajon valley on the San Diego, Cuyamaca and Eastern railroad, 20 miles north-east from San Diego. It is a fruit-growing section, and now has many new citrus and deciduous orchards coming into bearing. The town is nicely located, has one of the finest hotels in the county and is quite a favorite resort. The San Diego Flume supplies the country with water for irrigation and domestic purposes. The surrounding mountains and valleys make pleasant camping grounds for sportsmen.

LA MESA. (La Mesa Springs Station.)

La Mesa Colony is one of the near-by citrus fruit sections that has made development during the past few years. It is eight miles north-east of the city, on the Cuyamaca and Eastern Ry. It is supplied with water from the San Diego Flume, and consists in the main of five and ten acre lemon and orange groves. The colony has two stores, one at La Mesa town site and one at La Mesa Springs, a large lemon packing house, and school, church and other advantages that go to make a happy home place.

OTAY.

The town of Otay is located in the Otay valley and on the National City and Otay Railway, 12 miles south of San Diego. It joins Chula Vista on the south, and is rapidly developing into a lemon producing country. Good water is secured from wells in the Otay valley. The Otay dam now nearing completion will furnish water for the entire head-of-the-bay country.

RICHLAND.

Richland, a part of the San Marcos grant, is a most attractive valley, whose name is no misnomer as applied to its productiveness. It is being developed into one of the best fruit bearing sections of the county. It is situated on the Escondido branch railroad, and though at present the nearest station is at Escondido, three miles distant, the trains stop for passengers and mail and a station is assured for this point in the near future. Has store and postoffice, with mails twice a day. Sunday school and preaching services are held at the school house each Sunday. The community is justly proud of its school privileges. The building, a good one, recently enlarged, containing two rooms, situated on a knoll which is covered with trees of many varieties. The population has grown rapidly during the last three or four years, as shown by the last school census, numbering some 84 pupils, and is composed of farmers, fruit growers and others attracted by pleasing locality and climate. An oil well has been sunk to a depth of 120 feet with good indications of success.

SAN MARCOS.

The San Marcos country is recognized as one of the very best and most promising fruit and farming sections in the county. The soil, climate and general features are of the very best. It is on the Escondido branch of the Southern California Railway, 15 miles east of Oceanside. It joins Richland on the west and one description answers for both sections.

SANTEE.

Santee is situated in the northernmost part of the El Cajon valley on the line of the S. D. C. and E. Ry, near the San Diego river. Adjacent lands are mostly level and the soil good, much of it suited to alfalfa. The low easy sloping hills afford fine locations for residences and orchards. It is a picturesque part of the valley, the course of the river seen for miles marked by growths of timber, the surrounding hills and distant mountains affording views of which one never tires. A town site is platted and there is a good store, postoffice, school house, and hotel near the station.

SAN LUIS REY.

San Luis Rey is the name of the postoffice in that portion of the San Luis Rey valley at and near the Old Mission. The valley is one of the best known in Southern California, and the mission is one of the historic spots in the State, it being one of the first and finest established by the Fathers and their Indian associates. It was erected in 1798, and is now in a good state of preservation. It is four miles east of Oceanside.

WARNER.

Warner postoffice is about 65 miles north-east of San Diego, situated on Warner's ranch, about three miles from Warner's hot springs on the Agua Caliente Indian reservation. It is a cattle range, surrounded on all sides by mountains. The valley contains about 30,000 acres of fine land. The hot springs, which are noted for their curative qualities are under the control of the Indians who have built bath houses and many adobe cottages to rent to summer visitors. There are many of these hot springs where the water comes out hot enough to boil eggs.
