WHEN THE COUNTY FAIR CAME TO PB!

General Perspective of California Twenty-Second District Agricultural Fair

Plaza Facade of Stock and Agricultural Exhibit Building

"FAIR PROJECT POINTS WAY TO S. D. PROGRESS," screamed the headlines in the San Diego Union, on April 15, 1934. The County Fair, which began in National City in 1880, had been staged in Escondido and -- in 1930 -- in Balboa Park. Now a permanent home was planned -- in Pacific Beach. The clipping was sent to us by Judy Swink some years ago, and is being reproduced in this newsletter. Obviously the permanent home ended up in Del Mar. How and why may be the subject of another newsletter.
