PACIFIC BEACH.

J. H. Coder and family have moved into the Collins house near the beach.

The entertainment committee of this place are arranging for a "hard times" social.

Vernon Maxwell missed the motor on Sunday, and walked out from the city to visit his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Reiter were out to look over their ranch a few days ago. Now that they have come to California it is hoped they will conclude to build and make their home on their fine lemon ranch.

A short time ago Mr. Bowers sold a wagon load of lemons in the city, and a day or two since he took in six boxes. His returns for the first lemons marketed from this place are very satisfactory and other lemon growers are encouraged.
