been satisfactory.

PACIFIC BEACH.

Lemon trees never looked finer nor made a better growth.

E. Y. Barnes is building a $1,200 cottage on his five-acre tract north of the college campus.

Mr. and Mrs. Honeycutt, whose residence is in the city, are spending a few days at their cottage on Eleventh street, looking after the interests of their fine lemon ranch.

Mr. Holliday, of Oregon, has purchased ten acres north of the church. He will move to this place the 1st of October, bringing with him thirty head of Jersey cows and a number of fine horses..

The ladies of Pacific Beach met at Mrs. Thorp's on Saturday and formed a reading club for the purpose of studying ancient history, the leading topics of the day and of receiving mutual benefit,

The college buildings will take another siesta, but real estate continues to boom. The normal excitement has attracted attention to this "loveliest spot in all California," and several new settlers are preparing to make their homes here between the ocean and the bay.

CAMPO NOTES.